

Employee profile

Lee Shelley

Lee joined Governance NZ in 2013 and is our Education & Communications Executive.

Her position combines the administration and oversight of our Professional Education Programme, (which qualifies Chartered Secretaries and Chartered Governance Professionals), with responsibility for all organisational communication including website, social media, e-communications and public relations.

Lee comes from a diverse professional background having honed her skills and talents while employed across most business sectors including not-for-profits, large corporate organisations and the public service.

Her interests are many and varied with sailing, yoga and spending time with friends and family currently topping her list!
