Welcome

Governance New Zealand is New Zealand's leading independent professional body with a sole focus on the practice of governance and is dedicated to providing leadership in the areas of governance, compliance and risk management.

Governance New Zealand members are well-known for their high ethical standards, excellence in business leadership and influence as governance professionals. Our members enjoy global recognition and are supported through ongoing professional development, advocacy and technical updates to advance the best international practices and standards. We provide the best education and support for all governance professionals including practising chartered secretaries, governance advisers and risk managers - who are all tasked with driving responsible performance in their organisations.

As a Division of the international organisation, The Chartered Governance Institute, (formerly known as the Institute of Chartered Secretaries & Administrators, ICSA), Governance New Zealand has access to 29,000 members living and working in 80 countries.

Our accredited and internationally recognised Professional Education Programme sets the standard for entry into the profession and is the gateway to membership of Governance New Zealand Inc. and the Chartered Governance Institute - both leading international associations for governance professionals.

Professional Education Programme (PEP)

The Governance New Zealand Professional Education Programme (PEP) is postgraduate study that provides comprehensive knowledge and skills in the essential elements of good governance principles and is valuable preparation for any professional aspiring to a senior career in governance, compliance, and risk management. Our PEP sets the standard for entry into the profession and is the gateway to chartered membership of Governance New Zealand and the Chartered Governance Institute (CGI) — both leading international associations for governance practitioners.

The Professional Education Programme is designed and taught by leading law and business academics and expert practitioners in corporate and public sector governance.

Single subjects

If you do not wish to undertake the full Professional Education Programme, you may enrol in single subjects as a non-award student, for which no previous qualifications are necessary. A certificate is provided on the successful completion of each subject.

Professional accreditation — CPD

Accountants and lawyers should be entitled to claim credit for modules of the Professional Education Programme under their continuing professional development (CPD) and mandatory continuing legal education requirements. See the CPD rules of your relevant association(s). The Professional Education Programme entitles you to CPD hours for Governance NZ's CPD program.

Benefits of Study

Why enrol?

- ✓ Applied learning - knowledge gained while studying can be immediately applied in the workplace
- ✓ Flexibility – study is delivered by distance learning with tutor support to ensure adequate work/life balance
- ✓ Relevancy - our resources and professional development offerings will ensure you stay abreast of the latest thinking and trends in the profession
- ✓ Stand out from the competition - a chartered governance qualification will ensure you instantly stand out to prospective employers
- ✓ Instant recognition - being chartered shows that you have reached a high level of academic achievement and professional experience at a glance

Completing the Professional Education Programme will provide you with

An international Chartered Qualification - a fully accredited and internationally recognised, portable postgraduate qualification focused entirely on governance, risk and compliance

Knowledge - an in-depth understanding of how to meet compliance requirements, including the NZ Companies Act, NZX Listing Rules and key governance guidelines

Expertise - an explicit demonstration of your expertise in, and commitment to, sound governance practice

Confidence - have the confidence to speak the 'governance language' in your day-to-day role and become a highly regarded adviser to management and the board, or to be a valued board member

Career Enhancement - empowerment to progress to senior positions as a proactive member of the senior executive team

Competitive Advantage - becoming a Chartered Secretary, Chartered Governance Professional or Affiliated Member signifies the gold standard of the governance profession and will ensure you instantly stand out to prospective employers

International Membership - gateway to full chartered membership of Governance New Zealand providing access to all of our international affiliations, including the international body, the Chartered Governance Institute

Networking opportunities - interact with other governance professionals and senior executives working in the field of governance, risk, and compliance

How study with Governance NZ will benefit your employer

The Governance NZ Professional Education Programme is a rigorous post-graduate education programme that will provide you with the skills and expertise to implement high standards of corporate conduct and administration, significantly increasing your contribution to your organisation.

Completion of the Professional Education Programme will provide your employer with benefits including:

- an understanding of sound practice in governance and risk management and the tools and techniques to apply these within your organisation
- immediately useable, highly developed specialist skills in corporate law, corporate compliance, company secretarial practice, corporate governance, corporate administration, corporate finance, and risk management
- enhanced ability to better serve the needs of corporate and internal clients
- flexible study options designed to help students and employers minimise impact on work commitments
- access to Governance NZ seminars, courses and CPD activities to ensure that your organisation and staff stay at the forefront of the latest developments in governance and risk management
- graduates will be eligible for full chartered membership of Governance NZ, New Zealand's independent leader in governance and risk management which will help ensure you and your organisation stay up-to-date and informed

Study options

A significant advantage of the Governance NZ Professional Education Programme is that our subjects are available in distance mode. As a student you will have maximum flexibility to arrange your study around your career, family, and lifestyle commitments.

Distance mode with tutor support

Comprehensive study notes with tutor support provide necessary learning in lieu of face-to-face teaching. Some subjects also include an online learning resource.

Learning with experts

Governance NZ is privileged to have some of New Zealand's leading business and law academics and corporate executives as course directors and subject authors. Course directors are handpicked to ensure that students are exposed to optimum levels of technical knowledge, professional experience and communication skills.

Subject completion

If you should fail to complete the assessment components for subjects studied in the initial semester, you are able to complete them in the next consecutive semester for a fee of $250 (GST incl.).

Professional Education Programme completion

It should be noted that students have a maximum of five years to complete all the required subjects for the Governance NZ Professional Education Programme.

Stand-alone modules

All modules are available as stand-alone papers as a means of acquiring Professional Development without the commitment to complete the full programme.

Learning resources

Subject materials

Comprehensive learning materials, comprising subject notes and readings, are provided by Governance NZ and are regularly reviewed. The cost of these learning materials is included in the enrolment fee.

Student workshops

NOTE: The previously held Saturday face to face workshop has now been replaced by a series of virtual workshops.

Each module includes a series of online workshops. The workshops are conducted by senior academics and practitioners who provide a balance of guidance on examination and assignment preparation with actual practical work-based applications of theory included in the module content. The workshop schedule is distributed at the start of semester.

2021 WORKSHOP SERIES

Semester One - 5 April onwards

Semester Two - 6 September onwards

Workload guidelines

You should plan to allocate a minimum of six hours per week per module to study, including assignment writing and exam preparation.

Overview of qualifications and membership offered by Governance NZ

Membership ensures remaining at the forefront of global developments and best practice in governance. Membership, and therefore possessing the qualification as a Chartered Secretary and or a Chartered Governance Professional, involves a career-long relationship with both Governance NZ, and the International parent body, the Chartered Governance Institute (formerly ICSA).

Governance NZ and The Chartered Governance Institute have three levels of membership – Affiliated Member, Associate and Fellow.

For those individuals studying to become an Associate or Fellow, on the successful completion of the required examinations, students immediately become a Graduate and can use the post-nominal GradCG. Upon gaining the necessary practical experience and deemed to be of appropriate upstanding character, Graduates are admitted as members at Associate level, become a Chartered Secretary and/ or a Chartered Governance Professional and are entitled to use the post-nominal ACG. Upon admission as a Fellow, the most senior grade of membership granted on more extensive experience, a Chartered Secretary or Chartered Governance Professional may include the prestigious FCG designation after their title. Affiliated members are able to use the post nominal CG(Affiliated) after their name.

Affiliated membership (non-chartered)

Individuals without degrees or not wanting to pursue either of the two chartered qualifications can opt to study towards gaining the new Affiliated class of membership by completing three subjects from Governance NZ's formal qualifying programme. These subjects are Corporate Governance, Finance for Decision Making and Corporate Law. This pathway will provide you with the learning to support your career without requiring a commitment to the completion of all 6 modules. Students can opt to transfer to the full chartered study path at a later stage.

New doors are opening for governance professionals

Following a review of the International Qualifying Standard – the framework that underpins our qualification in New Zealand, a new professional designation of Chartered Governance Professional will sit alongside that of Chartered Secretary.

Affiliated membership is a new class of non-chartered membership which provides professional recognition of the achievement, value and capability of those who have qualified via our non-chartered route. It is open to those who have passed three prescribed modules from the PEP.

The new qualifying programme trains students in more relevant subject areas, offers greater support by design and will create graduates eligible to use both chartered designations on achieving the requisite work experience.

We believe that these changes will open more doors for more people into the growing world of governance.

The following are the modules that make up the Governance NZ Professional Education Programme from 2020.

Development of Strategy

Module objectives

- To examine the meaning and purpose of strategy
- To understand the differences between planning and strategy
- To address the core terms associated with the development of strategy
- To explore the evolution of thinking about strategy.
- To examine the alignment of strategy and management
- To understand the nature of organisations and role of strategy

Areas covered

- Key concepts
- What is strategy?
- Planning, strategy and strategic planning — What's in a term?
- Definitions of strategy
- A lexicon for strategy development
- Evolution of thinking about strategy development
- Links to management
- What is an organisation?
- Private, public and not-for-profit sectors
- Novel perspectives on strategy

Corporate Governance

This subject has been designed to achieve the following aims:

- to provide corporate governance professionals, including company executives, senior managers and company secretaries, with a solid platform of governance knowledge and skills.
- to identify the business and organisational context of corporate governance.
- to develop an awareness and understanding of governance processes and systems and their relevance to compliance, due diligence, best practice and professionalism.
- to identify the changing nature of governance and challenges presented by the 21st century business environment.

1. Overview of the general principles of corporate governance

- Definitions of 'corporate governance'
- Key elements of corporate governance
- The Companies Act 1993 and corporate governance
- Regulatory regime
- Corporate governance disclosure, NZX Listing Rules requirements
- Corporate governance principles - FMA
- Corporate governance principles, codes and guidelines for different sectors

2. The Board of Directors and leadership

The Companies Act 1993 is the foundation document for the roles, responsibilities and duties of the board and its directors. This legal framework is examined in the first part of this section, together with relevant law dealing with compliance.

The second area for discussion is the corporate governance framework. This examines governance issues relating to the board.

- the role of the board and the focus on strategy
- the role of the Chair, and the relationship with the CEO
- the role of non-executive and independent directors, and executive directors
- the composition and role of the board

 - CSR contexts
 - Sustainability and environment
 - Integrated reporting – global developments
 - Delivering socially responsive goods and services
 - Global and local choices: shareholder and community value
- Ethics
 - Ethics vs regulation
 - Ethical organisations

5. Part One - Shareholders

This section discusses the role and rights of shareholders, and protections available to them. Shareholders have a unique role, both in company law and in governance Principles and Codes. Legislation identifies rights and powers, aligned to the shareholder's position as provider of capital. Governance Principles and Codes pick up this element and extend it, giving the shareholder a key role in balancing the power relations involving boards, management and the providers of capital – the shareholders.

Part Two - Remuneration

This section deals with the important issue of remuneration of directors and executives; a subject which has attracted particular public interest given the remuneration excesses of recent times.

6. Review and examination preparation

- Case study
- Reflection
- Revision

Enterprise Risk Management

This course covers the basic concepts of Enterprise Risk Management (ERM) and important elements executives and personnel need to be aware of when implementing ERM across their company.

In a world of doing more at a faster pace and ever-changing technology and businesses, organisations both large and small, are either taking on through changes outside of their control (e.g. legislation or regulation) or are absorbing increasing levels of risk.

Therefore, it's important to align risk strategies with the overall risk management and internal control activities. The inability to do this may place the organisation at risk. With many organisations unable to employ ERM specialists or engage consultants, it falls to executives to try to fill this knowledge gap.

ERM is an initiative important to all aspects of the work undertaken by the executive and board. Mitigating risks, including those in the financial, operational and compliance operations of an organisation allows a range of benefits to be accrued including: increased competitive advantage, increased likelihood of achieving strategic objectives and ability to meet increased societal and stakeholder expectations, improved governance and increased likelihood of meeting regulatory and compliance expectations.

On the satisfactory completion of this course, you will come away with a fuller understanding of ERM, how it fits in most companies and how, and what you can do to make sure ERM works well and effectively protects your company without stifling growth.

What will you learn?

The aim of this subject is to develop an enhanced knowledge of ERM practices to assist the board, or other governing body, to determine its strategic responsibility for risk-taking; demonstrate an understanding of how different risks operate within the context of existing enterprise management frameworks; formulate the organisation's attitude and policy to risk appetite; tolerance for key individual risks and ensure clear lines of accountability.

The key learning you will undertake includes how to:

- Understand and apply the foundations, concepts, frameworks and principles of enterprise risk management
- Quantify and explain the intersections between enterprise risk management, governance and corporate social responsibility
- Critically apply methods for the development, enhancement and sustainment of robust risk culture supported by enterprise risk management
- Manage, critically appraise and report to relevant stakeholders, the organisation's exposure to and treatment of risk and the key risks that could undermine its people, assets, operations, strategy, reputation or long-term viability

Assessment

Students must attain an aggregated mark of 50 per cent for their total assessment requirements in order to pass each subject.

For non-award students, assessment is optional. However, if you wish to move to membership or later wish to complete the Professional Education Programme, assessment is mandatory.

There are two compulsory assessment components for all subjects as follows:

Assessment Component	Percentage of overall mark	Format

Frequently asked questions

Q. What are the requirements for admission to the Governance NZ Professional Education Programme?

A. Entry is available to those who hold a university degree or degree-equivalent qualification satisfying Governance New Zealand's entry requirements. An entry qualification may be either an undergraduate or postgraduate degree. A degree-equivalent qualification may be a membership qualification for a related professional association. There are no prerequisites for non-award enrolments.

Q. What if I don't have a degree but there are parts of the programme that are really relevant to my current role?

A. If you do not have a degree or are not intending to complete the full Professional Education Programme, you can enrol for single papers as a non-award student. This will provide you with the learning to support your career without requiring a commitment to complete all 6 modules. You can also study towards the Affiliated membership qualification which requires the completion of only 3 modules without any pre-requisite degree.

Q. Which subject should I do first?

A. There are no hard and fast rules governing the order of study although Corporate Law, Corporate Accountability – Meetings & Disclosure and Corporate Governance are ideal subjects to start with due to being more generalist or broad in terms of content. If your aim is to complete the Governance NZ Professional Education Programme you may be eligible for exemptions based on your prior studies. Refer to page eight for details. For more specific advice in relation to your enrolment, contact Governance NZ.

Q. How will I be assessed?

A. Each subject consists of an assignment and exam component. Refer to page twenty for details. If you enrol as a non-award student the assessment is optional, although if you later wish to convert to the Professional Education Programme, assessment is mandatory.

Q. How difficult are the exams?

A. The examinations are set at a post-graduate level with an emphasis on the candidate's ability to critically analyse and apply the knowledge in a practical context. The failure rate is usually less than 5% of candidates sitting.

Q. How do I find out if my degree meets the requirements of Governance NZ?

A. We will be able to advise you as to whether or not your degree will likely meet the entry requirements. However, to confirm your eligibility we will need a certified copy of your academic transcript from your university, listing the subjects you completed and your results. This should be sent to the Education & Communications Executive.

Q. What should I do if I anticipate problems finishing any subject in the normal one-semester time frame?

A. All subjects studied may be extended once to the next consecutive semester for a fee of $250. Updated resources may incur an extra fee.

Please refer to the Subject Completion Policy on the Governance NZ website.

Q. If I fail a subject can I re-sit at a later date? What are the charges?

A. Where a student fails an exam or an assignment, they are able to re-sit the exam or re-submit the assignment in the following semester by paying a re-sit fee of $150.

Q. What are the requirements for membership of Governance NZ?

A. Associate membership of Governance New Zealand Inc. and our international affiliations is obtained by completion of the Professional Education Programme in addition to 6 years relevant work experience. The six-year requirement may be reduced by up to three years based on the academic or professional qualifications held by the applicant Visit the Governance NZ website to find out more about becoming a Chartered Secretary or Chartered Governance Professional.
