Our Presenters

Alison Lewes

Alison Lewes leads the Diversity and Inclusion team at the State Services Commission and has a system-wide delivery role. A qualified lawyer, she has 20 years government experience working across six agencies in professions including management, governance, policy, organisational performance monitoring and policy. This included leading Crown appointment processes for a range of Ministers. She won the Prime Ministers Award in Public Management and holds a Masters with distinction. She has a long-standing interest in diversity, including having previously worked on policy relating to disabled people, labour market strategies, and her favourite assignment – supporting the Tokelau government by delivering capability building on the atoll of Atafu.
