

Economic Update Breakfast

Wednesday 20 October 2016, Auckland
With Reserve ADB Chief Economist, Nick Tufley will provide an update and outlook for the New Zealand economy including:

- The high global uncertainty in 2016 may still leave a few surprises in store, will there be a surprise for exports? How much confidence left in the IMF view on China and the US housing gap?
- Locally the economy has a few challenges, how have dairy prices and high house prices.
- But while true that there are a number of industries and regions that are doing relatively well.
- Overall, though, is almost too modest, giving the Reserve Bank some scope to keep cutting interest rates.
- Overall, the government, under a lot of uncertainty has for the Reserve Bank is prepared to go, even with a strong NZ dollar, keeping its efforts.
